MUNICIPAL REFORM.

Rev. C. M. Alford Makes an Interesting Address on a Live Topic

TO !MPROVE THE CITY GOVERNMENT

A Divorce of Municipal and Party Politics Advocated-The Education of the People-Crime Should Be Detected and Punished-The Part Christians Should Take-How to Secure Good Government.

Lastovening at the Third Presbyterian church, on the South Side, the pastor, Rev. C. M. Alford, preached on "Municipal Reform" to a large and interested congregation. The address was eloquently delivered and made a deep impression on the speaker's hearers. The text taken was from Ezekiel 7-23; "Make a chain; for the land is full of bloody crime, and the city is full of violence.' Mr. Alford said:

"The city is the storm centre of our civilization. That it is growing much faster than the whole population of our country is very significant. It is a common saying in Europe, and acknowledged by the best people here, that the government of large cities in America is a failure. City government in ourcountry has so degenerated that it might be called government by a boss' or 'ring.' Herberr Spencer says that we have retained the form of freedom, but have lost the substance. That the framers of our constitution never dreamed that the day would come when 20,000 citizens would you to the polls led 20,000 citizens would go to the polls led by a 'boss.' The fundamental idea of by a boss. The fundamental idea of popular covernment is the distribution of power. For ages the struggle has been to wreat the power from the few and lodge it in the hands of the many. But in our large cities the power is centralizing. It matters not what we call the man who wields the power, whether king, crar, pope, president, capitalist, or bose, his power is damerous. New king, crar, pope, president, capitalist, or boss, his power is dangerous. New York has been roled by a political society for years. Those in control have rapidly become millionaires: Several times the outraged people have risen against it, and hurled a Tweed into prison, driven a Connolly to the ends of the earth, and reformed their city government, but good men grow weary and declare politics a dirty business,' and these evil forces of vice and crime soon walk the deck again, as though nothing had the deck again, as though nothing had Imppened.

"Some months ago an Italian in New York, seeking to be naturalized, told the judge that the President of the United States is "Tamana Haila"—a most natural mistake in New York. All the perils of our country, with the exception of Mormonism, focalize in the large cities. The perils of immigration, Romanism, intemperance, wealth and poverty, and socialism are greatly augmented in the overcrowded city. The vast immigration which brings to our cities the very senm and poisonous off-scouring of the seething civilizations of the Old World as paupers, criminals, agnostics, nihilists and americiats together with the unblushing corruption of our municipal government. archists together with the unblushing corruntion of our municipal government, is now agitating the best element of society. We cannot expect that loafers, swindlers, whisky-drinkers and public thieves should make or execute just laws! What we need to-day above all other things is municipal reform. The first thing toward accomplishing this needed reform is to

DIVORCE MUNICIPAL AND PARTY POLITICS.

"There is not a city in America in which the respectable and intelligent citizens are not in an overwhelming majority. Our corrupt city governments are due to the fact that these better are due to the fact that these better classes of citizens refuse to take control of their own affairs. They divide themselves in two party factions, which gives the politicians, who get their living out of bad municipal government, their point of vantage—they have their enemy—the good people—surely and nermanently divided. With this great advantage these demagogues are certain of success. What has national politics to do with city government? What has tariff or free trade to do with municipal affairs? If we could once break down the foolish superatition that national politics has something to do with city affairs, it would be very easy to unite all citizens who want cleau streets, good water, pure air, good drainage, etc., in a municipal party when yould be accessed. good drainage, etc., in a municipal party which would be strong enough to insure good government. Why should insure good government. Why should not the business men of the city, irre-insure good government. Why should not the business men of the city, irrespective of their political or religious opinions, form a municipal party for the simple purpose of electing competent municipal officers, and keeping them in office so long as they do their work well? The more completely city business can be divorced from national politics the better will it be for us all.

"The present agitation of this most needed reform is along this line of divorcing municipal government and national politics. The 'City Club' of New York and the 'Municipal Reform Lengue' of Philadelphia are composed of men who are desirous of better city government. These organizations require their members to leave national politics out of the problem and also to enroll themselves as members of a permanent organization sequire sediments. of the problem and also to enroll themselves as members of a permanent organization, paying small annual dues for its support and the prosecution of its reform work. These two organizations held a public conference on minicipal reform in Philadelphia, January 25 and 28, and practical questions on city reform were discussed. These young men of Philadelphia and New York ought to find imitators in all our large cities.

Glasgow, the second city of Great Britain, has the model city government of the world, and this is largely due to the complete separation of national politics and city government. We will never have pure city government until we completely and permanently divorce from them all vestige of national politics.

To accomplish city reform we should

To accomplish city reform we should

EDUCATE THE PROPER

"Most people are not in the least acquainted with city government. They are completely ignorant of how it is conducted, and the worst part about it is that they are perfectly indifferent on the subject. It has not been considered part of the education of an American citizen to understand municipal affairs. This fault has its beginning back in the public schools. It is necessary that every child should be taught reading, writing and mathematics, but he should also be taught to be an enlightened American citizen. He should be educated in the first principles of Americanism. How foolish it is to teach a child about the heavenly bodies and rear him in ignorance of his own body! How absurd to teach him about the countries of the Old World and their governments, and at the same time leave him unacquaintpart about it is that they are pered with our national government, and even the government of the city in which he resides!

"City officers should be elected for their qualifications, not according to the political spoils system. A man should occupy a certain office because he is an export in that line, not because some politicians have promised him the office for work done in behalf of their political party. It is not every man of ordinary for work done in behalf of their political party. It is not every man of ordinary business ability that can administer the affairs of a city. Honesty is not the only thing necessary to carry on the affairs of a city government, skill and knowledge are quite as easential. No business man would place a man at the head of a department of his store or mill simply because he was honest; he secures a man who is an expert in that secures a man who is an export in that line of business.

"The business of a city should be con-"The business of a city should be conducted on business principles by nich who understand their business. The streets and alleys should be graded, paved and repaired by professional street builders. The board of education should be composed of men who are themselves well educated, and who are recognized in the city as educators. All our city offices should be filled by men who are well qualified to conduct the business of their offices. Reform is very much needed along this line. Autother step in municipal reform is that CREME SHOULD BE DETECTED AND PUN-CRIME SHOULD BE DEFECTED AND PEN

"Crime should be treated as crime. The moment you tocalize or license crime you put the municipal government stamp on vice. No respectable city can afterd to do that. The Society for the Prevention of Crime in New York city, led by Dr. Charles II. Parkhurst, has undertaken to demonstate and break up the system of paid police protection under which vice and crime have abnormally flourished. This society has thoroughly convinced New York city that vice is regularly protected by Tammany Hall and the police force for the lion's share in the profits.

"The saloons of the metropolis have complained to Tammany's boss that they are paying $500,000 annually in brites to the police force to prevent the police form making arrests, and that the blackmait levied on them is too heavy and should be reduced. What a multitude of crimes this $600,000 of saloon money has annually covered! A similar condition of affairs is found in almost all of our great cities, although on a smaller scale, You might imagine that the principal busi-The moment you tocalize or li-affairs is found in almost all of our great cities, although on a smaller scale. You might imagine that the principal business of the police force was to protect crime and vice instead of arresting and rooting it out. But how can you expect a policeman to arrest a saloon-keeper where he gets his free drinks daily? How can you expect him to arrest the drunken sot with whom he occasionally drinks? How can you expect a city government to condemn vice and crime when its mayor appears before his own bur and fines himself for drunkenness? when its chief of police is found in a brothel, and its policemen daily drink in the city saloons?

WHAT PART SHOULD CHRISTIANS TAKE?

WHAT PART SHOULD CHRISTIANS TAKE? "There is a sentiment frequently expressed by men who are opposed to pressed by men who are opposed to reform, that a minister or leading Christian has no rights in political aflairs. I do not believe that a Christian church, as an ecclesiastical body, has a right to interest itself in political aflairs. Neither has a minister in his representative capacity. But the members of a church are no less citizens than those who do not attend church. When a young man enters the ministry he does not disfranchise himself, but still retains all the rights of citizenship. That idea that ministers should be relegated to the church steeples, high above the roofs of the houses where they will not be contaminated with sin and the wicked world, and only permitted to decend once a week to discourse on life in the celestial city, has long since been exploded.

"When moral issues are at stake, as in New Jersey last fall, the pulpit has a right to come to the front. Instead of it being the duty of the clerryman to keep out of these things it is most important that he and his Christian people should go into them. The church is of no benefit to the world if it remains silent in a fight where moral issues are involved.

"How will you purify the pool of corruct politics if the good elements stand aloof from the performance of their political duties? If your city is good reform, that a minister or leading rupt politics if the good elements stand aloof from the performance of their political duties? If your city is good enough to give you a business and a home, it also deserves your political support as a loyal and patriotic citizen. Dr. MacArthur well says "The man who is so engrossed with the duties of the other world that he cannot perform his duties in this world, is not likely ever to see another world as good as this world." The Bible stimulates to noble patriotism as well as to fervent piety. If good men desire good government they must make themselves felt all the way from the primary to the ballot-box.

"Every city needs reform. I hope to ballot-box.

"Every city needs reform. I hope to see the day when municipal and national politics will be completely and permanently divorced; when all the people will be educated in the city govpeople will be educated in the city government, and when not only honest but well qualified men will hold the offices; when the duty of the police will be not to protect crime but to banish it; and when the butter classes of citizens will do their whole duty to their city, their state and their nation."
